Plans Under Way for Erection of 16 Modern Houses During Spring in Oak Street Section of South Side

Markell and W. E. Sellers Announce Intention to Build 10.

SUPPORT OF CITY ASKED

Proposal Made That Connellsville Construction Company Erect Six in Same Street; Seven Rooms Average, to Cost $6,000 to $7,000 Each.

If the cooperation of the city can be secured in the matter of a sewer and necessary grading, 10 new houses, perhaps a half dozen more, will be erected during the spring and summer in Oak street, South Side.

This announcement was made today by F. E. Markell and William Sellers, who will jointly construct 10. A proposal that the Connellsville Construction Company build six will be put before the board of directors at a meeting to be called for that purpose, was said.

While details were not yet complete, it was said the houses will be seven rooms on the average and constructed of brick and stucco construction and costing $6,000 to $7,000 each, all modern in every detail. The houses have been laid before the board of directors of the city and the city council will visit the same and attempt to arrive at a decision as to how the city can assist in this work which is intended to help solve the house shortage in the city.

Mr. Markell said between 600 and 800 feet of sanitary sewer will be necessary. There also will be required some grading—most very much—indicated. "We also will need a lot of work."

The proposed building area is located along Oak street to the south of Davidson's avenue. Oak street is a main street east of Chestnut street. There have been a number of houses erected in this section within the past few years.

If the cooperation of the city is secured in the matters spoken of construction work will be started about April 1, Mr. Markell said and the houses will be ready for occupancy as soon as the contractors can complete them, which, it is estimated, could be in three to four months. Plans are now being prepared.

Railroad Workers Cannot Enter Into Sympathy Strike

CLEVELAND, Feb. 21.—Railroad workers will not join a strike in sympathy with miners proposed April 1, if operators fail to meet wage scales announced at miners' Indianapolis convention, says a high official of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. "We have very specific regulations governing this point," he declared, "which forbid us to enter sympathy strikes."

During negotiations which led to announcement of railroads-miners conference in Chicago February 21, Brotherhood leaders maintained they would not go as far as to call a strike in sympathy with the miners, though estimating "economic interests" of the railroad workers were closely allied. Railroaders are expected to give moral and financial support.

Samuel A. Kendall Is Candidate to Succeed Himself

Congressman Samuel A. Kendall took the occasion of his short visit to Connellsville and Fayette county yesterday to announce that he will be a candidate for nomination at the May primaries.

He is serving his second term as representative from the 23rd Congressional District under the old apportionment which grouped Fayette, Somerset and Greene counties in this district. By act of the last legislature, effective with the next election, the district will comprise only Fayette and Somerset. Greene having been grouped with Washington county.

B. & O. Train 23 Ditched at Markelton

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Train No. 23, Baltimore to Pittsburgh, was derailed just a short distance east of Markelton about 35 miles west of here at 9:45 o'clock this morning. The cause of the wreck has not been determined and an investigation has already been instituted. It is rumored that a sand pipe had become wedged between a switch point and when the train, running west on the eastbound track ran into it the derailment followed.

The locomotive, tender, baggage car and two coaches left the rails but no one was injured. The coaches were not carrying many passengers this morning, it is said. W. E. Miland of this city was at the throttle. E. P. Chenoweth of Pittsburgh was conductor.

The train was running on the east bound track because No. 37, a fast freight, was on the westbound. The westbound track was opened about 45 minutes following the accident.

First reports reaching the city were that the entire train had been derailed and the locomotive turned on its side. It is also said that a train going over the mountain last night left a sand pipe and the one wedged in the switch may have been the same.

Passengers were brought to this city on Train No. 13, an express, which arrived at 2 o'clock.

ONE KILLED, SIX WOUNDED IN RIOTS ATTENDING STRIKES

Police Use Guns on Cotton Workers at Pawtucket; Trouble at West Virginia Mine.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Feb. 21.—One man was killed, two were seriously wounded and six persons were hurt when the police used riot guns today on a crowd of 1,000 persons who gathered at the plant of the Jockey Spinning Company where a strike is in progress. The guns were brought into the play when several patrolmen had been knocked down after the arrest of three strike sympathizers.

Mayor Robert Kenyon witnessed the shooting. He had arrived at the gates of the plant early in the morning to observe the crowd that had gathered to watch working operatives enter the mill. The mayor, believing there was danger in the crowd, read the riot act. He then told patrolmen to be careful and calm but to do their duty and "shoot if necessary."

WELLSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 21.—Four men were wounded in a gun fight between a mine guard and strikers' pickets near the Labadie mine of the Pittsburgh-West Virginia Coal Company, south of here today. The mine, which has been closed for some time, recently reopened on an open shop basis.

According to Sheriff Duval, who said he had the situation in hand, Dan Altman, a guard, was escorting a party of 20 negro miners to the pit. He was accosted by the pickets and answered that they should "go along and attend to your own business."

A volley of shots rang out and Altman went down. Although wounded Altman returned the fire and the three others were hit.

MINERS AND RAIL CHIEFS MEET TO TALK "ALLIANCE"

Assembly on Invitation of John L. Lewis, President of Mine Workers.

GOOD RESULTS EXPECTED

By Associated Press. CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—A "defensive alliance" was up for discussion here today by coal mine and railway union leaders, who assembled on the invitation of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

Fifteen of the 15 major railway unions accepted Lewis' invitation to participate in the conference. Just to what extent the railway union representatives will enter into the alliance has not been indicated.

Mr. Lewis said he was confident that the conference with the railway labor chiefs would be "fruitful of results," but he did not indicate what sort of an understanding was expected to be developed from the conference which began in the afternoon. He also said that other conferences in the future possibly would be necessary before any final program of the alliance could be adopted.

The threatened strike in April was, according to the official, in no way connected with the proposed alliance but the officials said their hope was to create a working arrangement between the miners and railroad men so that the potential strength of 2,000,000 in the two basic industries might be of such force as to prevent any arbitrary wage reductions by employers without conference with the workers.

Mr. Lewis' message for the Cleveland meeting was sent to all associations of coal operators in the Central Competitive Field and also to operators who were signatories to the present wage agreement made in New York City two years ago. The Cleveland meeting, if approved by the operators, Mr. Lewis said, would fix the date for negotiations on the wage scale. No actual work on the wage agreement, he said, would be taken up at the Cleveland meeting.

Car and Garage of J. R. Davidson Are Destroyed by Fire

The garage in the rear of the home of J. R. Davidson in East Green street was destroyed by fire about 12:30 o'clock this afternoon. The cause of the flames is not known, but the whole interior was consumed when the fire was discovered. Two streams of hose were played on the building and the automobile in it, a Standard Eight, was badly burned.

The alarm was turned in from a box in Vine street. Joseph Voshack, a driver for the J. R. Davidson Grocery store, had gone to the garage to get a supply of gasoline. When he opened the door the interior was on fire and he ran to the house to inform Mr. Davidson. An alarm was sent in immediately but so much headway had been gained that considerable damage had been done before the firemen arrived.

The loss is partially covered by insurance, Mr. Davidson said this afternoon.

Loosened Hose In Dental Office Floods Building.

Dring last night a hose which conducted water from a pipe on the floor to the dentist chair in the office of Dr. Louis Stralio, West Crawford avenue, which is situated over the Kelley jewelry store, broke loose and flooded the dentist's office, the water finding its way through the ceiling to the store below. S. M. Kelly, who came to the store about 6 o'clock this morning, said that looking in through the steamed windows from the outside reminded one of a fair storm.

The door to the dentist's office being locked, a janitor was secured and Patrolman P. M. Ruff climbed through one of the front windows and shut off the water.

Pole Needs Painting. The city solons have issued an invitation to some one to paint the new flag pole. The pole, donated during the war by several industrial plants is badly in need of paint and it will be put on this spring. A new rope will also have to be put on the pole. The flagstaff is an all iron one and is quite high.

J. A. Mason Gains. Improvement is reported in the condition of Joseph A. Mason, who has been very ill at his home in South Arch street.

DEATH RATE IN UNITED STATES SHOWS DECREASE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The death rate in the United States decreased to 1,390 per 100,000 population in 1920 from 1,490 per 100,000 in 1919, according to figures announced today by the census bureau. All age groups showed a decline in the death rate.

The decrease in adult groups was attributed largely to the reduced rates from tuberculosis, typhoid fever and Bright's disease. A disease showing a serious increase in the death rate was cancer.

SPRING WEATHER BRINGS BASEBALL BUG TO THE FRONT

Connellsville Club Has Been Busy Signing Players, Booking Games.

TIGERS MAY BE HERE

Management of Club Dickering for Game July 6; Identity of Reported New Members of Team Not Made Known But Surprises Are Promised.

The present balmy weather may be contradictory to what was promised by Bre'er Groundhog but it certainly has brought the baseball "bugs" to life. In spite of the fact that basketball season still has a calendar month to go, the outdoor fans are already beginning to talk and recent information has disclosed the fact that Connellsville is going to be right up among the leaders in independent baseball this season.

Having three years ago after lying dormant for several summers the reputation of Connellsville has grown in strength each year. Plans, which have been worked on throughout the winter months, are now beginning to bear fruit and it looks as though this region will see some of the fastest outfields in Western Pennsylvania at Payette Field when the weather opens up.

J. J. Thompson, a member of the Connellsville Baseball Club, has been negotiating for an exhibition game here on July 6 with the Detroit Americans. The Tigers play in Washington on July 7 and there being no game on the American League schedule for the team on July 6 it has been suggested that the outfit stop here for an exhibition. The management of the Tigers has replied favorably to the letter of Mr. Thompson and now matters are being brought to a close. No contract has been signed yet, however.

Another game already scheduled and closed up for is the annual clash with the Homestead Grays, a nine of championship caliber. This attraction will be on Decoration Day and will be a double header. Games have been scheduled for both morning and afternoon.

No names of players signed up have yet been made public but it is said that Connellsville boosters will be highly gratified when they are finally acquainted with the roster of the team. Some of those engaged last season will be back and the weaker positions will be filled by players who made names for themselves on other clubs. One change, it is said, will be in an outfield position and another in the battery.

The matter of all are excited at present but no doubt some of the best twirling talent will be working under Coker colors this summer.

While the club made money last season there is still a deficit on the grandstand and it is hoped to clear enough this year to get the sport freed of debt. With a winning team on the field there is no reason why Connellsville should not support its ball club and there being the team, giving their efforts because they love the game and want to see this city on the sport map, are optimistic over the outlook.

Another matter being given much attention is the schedule this season. Instead of booking games from week to week, or just two weeks ahead, the club will endeavor to fill a schedule early, thereby securing satisfactory dates with clubs which will be the biggest drawing cards.

The Y. M. C. A. Board of Control has already taken up the matter of organizing another City League this summer and although no definite plans have been made, several fields may be used for games instead of confining them all to Payette Field. The baseball question will be taken up a little later, and then the exact status of the league in connection with the "Y" will be known.

The game is getting an early start all around in this city this year. The first game in Connellsville was played on a Washington avenue lot yesterday by a group of boys who started a "scrub" contest.

PORTSMOUTH, Va., Feb. 21.—According to a message received here this afternoon at 3:15 o'clock 38 persons were killed in the explosion of the Army dirigible Roma near Hampton Roads Naval Base. At that hour 12 bodies had been taken from the wreckage.

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 21.—Twelve injured and the body of one dead had been removed at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the wreckage of the great dirigible Roma which blew up at 2 o'clock near Hampton Roads Naval Base. At that time the fate of nearly 10 others was unknown.

The dirigible was 600 feet in the air

when she caught fire. Many of the members of the crew are said to have jumped as the craft neared earth. There were 21 persons in the crew and there are said to have been 30 to 40 passengers aboard.

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 21.—The giant Army dirigible Roma, purchased by the government from Italy and only recently commissioned, was destroyed by an explosion this afternoon while operating over Hampton Roads naval base.

The big craft, believed to be carrying a number of passengers, landed in flames near the naval base.

Soon after she fell four men were taken off alive. Heat from the flames was so intense that persons near where the craft fell were unable to approach.

The four rescued were badly burned. The Roma, the largest semi-rigid dirigible in the world, was sailing in a southeasterly direction when, according to observers, she suddenly burst into flames and fell like a plummet to earth.

The explosion occurred shortly after 2 o'clock. Authorities at Langley Field, the home station of the Roma, and the point at which she was assembled after being brought from Italy, said there were fully 40 men aboard, but whether there had been loss of life had not been ascertained a half hour after the mishap.

Freight Rate Meeting is Postponed

More time being required to collect data on the freight situation than will elapse between now and Thursday, Mayor Mitchell announced this morning that the meeting of shippers called for 8 P. M. February 23 has been postponed one week until Thursday, March 2.

Councilman Stone is himself collecting a lot of material bearing on the situation and expects to secure more during a visit to Baltimore later in the week. Some parties outside of the city who are interested in the matter have expressed a desire to be present but find that they cannot have their data in shape until later. In order to give more time for the accumulation of information necessary to a full consideration of the question it has been deemed advisable to defer the meeting, which Mayor Mitchell has done in accordance with the wishes of parties very much interested in securing relief from the existing situation.

Dunbar Man, Who Likes to Sleep, Sent to Work

Hard times proved no incentive to Eli Savage of Dunbar to attempt to find a job. Two weeks ago Eli was hauled into court in Uniontown and ordered to provide for his wife. Later he was released on the plea that he had secured employment at the plant of the American Magnesium Manufacturing Company at Dunbar.

But soon afterward his troubles began again. Sleep—lots of sleep—seemed to be essential to his existence. He slept so long and so soundly, it was claimed, that the company found it necessary to send a man to his home to get him out of bed and to work.

This morning Mrs. Savage appeared in court with a story that Savage had chased her about their home with a poker.

An indefinite sentence to the Allegheny County Workhouse was imposed and while there Savage's wife will receive 65 cents a day he earns.

It was announced late yesterday that Frank E. Weddell, the well-known coal and coke operator of Scotland, had disposed of his interests in the Consolidated Coke Company and the Pioneer Coal & Coke Company, and all affiliated corporations, to George Whyle of Uniontown. The Consolidated company is operator of Donald No. 1 and 2, Donald No. 3 and Sterling plants in the Lower Connellsville district and maintains offices in Uniontown and Pittsburgh. The Pioneer company, a selling organization, has offices in Uniontown, Pittsburgh and New York.

Mr. Weddell was secretary and assistant treasurer and member of the boards of directors of these corporations. No announcement of his successor in these capacities has been made, nor of the consideration involved in the transfer of his interests.

Mr. Weddell became associated with the Whyle enterprises January 1, 1909, since which time he has been an important factor in the fueling industry of the coke region. Previously he had been in the service of the Union Supply Company. Other than devoting his time to his individual interests Mr. Weddell has no matured business plans.

COURT CANCELS DEED BY SON OF GEORGE III

Mental Incompetency Inherited From Royal Great-Great-Grandfather Is Alleged.

H. C. Huffaker, an eccentric minister and large land owner of Wayne county, Kentucky, was a great-great-grandson of King George III of England and inherited insanity from his royal ancestors, according to testimony presented to the Court of Appeals. The suit was one filed by heirs to set aside a deed made by Huffaker to a son on the grounds of mental incompetency. That Kentucky had long been entertaining unwelcome direct descendants of "Farmer George" was set forth by a witness, who said:
"In 1700 a daughter of George III married a Scotchman named Graham. The couple immigrated to North Carolina, where they founded the town of Graham. Their daughter married a Love and a daughter of this marriage became the wife of Christopher Huffaker, father of H. C. Huffaker. Eccentricities developed in every generation of the line. Family records proved the authenticity of the claim of royal ancestry.
"Huffaker believed that one Swift had discovered silver on his place. Swift was killed by Indians and Huffaker dug all over the place trying to find the vein of silver or the place where the Indians had buried their loot. He also was confident there was oil, and there he was right.
"It was his action in deciding the mineral rights to his son, H. C. Huffaker, in 1914, that resulted in the suit being brought by other heirs after the oil was struck. Huffaker died in 1917 at the age of 84 years.
The Court of Appeals affirmed the deed and Judge Sampson, in his opinion, mentioned that "Huffaker was a direct descendant of King George III."

WOMAN EASES CONSCIENCE

State Treasurer Gets $482.05 Payment for Taxes.
A check for $482.05 has been placed in the conscience fund of the Pennsylvania State Treasury as a contribution from an "Unknown Person."

That is the largest payment of the kind to be made in years and the disposal of the check came ordered after considerable investigation of the matter.

The check was sent through a Reading bank by a woman who stated that owing to changes of residence in Pennsylvania she had not paid taxes on some bonds and mortgages she had owned for the last ten years.

The check was placed in the special fund and will be utilized for general state purposes.

TUESDAY EVENING, FEB. 21, 1933.

TIME FOR REDUCTIONS, NOT INCREASES.

Apparently the paperhangers and bakers of Connellsville are out of touch and sympathy with public sentiment with respect to the wage and price situation. The former have increased their prices for paper hanging to a more complete readjustment
to a more complete readjustment.

The former having demanded an increase in wages ranging from 10 to 20 per cent and the latter having advanced the price of bread two cents,
or 20 per cent, a loaf, indicates to the public at large that both groups are unwilling to do their part, in common with other workers and other lines of business, in contributing to the reduction of wages and prices which must be brought about before there can be the beginning of a period of greater prosperity than has prevailed since
the close of the war.

If there were just cause why increases should be demanded at this time, the public—the always patient and long-suffering payer of the freight
—would be less disposed to criticize advances at this time. But in neither case is the action warranted by facts,
circumstances or conditions.

The existing scale of wages for paper hanging was made when living costs were near the peak, which was reached in July, 1920. Since that time there has been a decline of 43.1 points.
Meantime the price of wallpaper has dropped an average of 40 per cent.
Under such circumstances the natural expectation of householders has been
that they would derive some benefit from these reductions, instead of being required to pay an increase in labor cost, that will more than absorb the saving resulting from lower prices of paper.

In the case of the bakers the two cents increase in the price of bread is as unjustifiable and indefensible as the increase in the cost of paper hanging. The deduction of the price for all farm products, including wheat, was the first to be completed after the war
and has been the most drastic of all the price readjustments. Wheat disposed to a lower price than prevailed
at the outbreak of the war in 1914,
and much below the cost of production, and has only recently recovered to within about 60 per cent of the price fixed by the government during the war. Yet bread, which has been selling at eight cents in the larger towns and cities while 10 cents was the price here, has been raised to 12 cents, or but one-third lower than the highest war-time price.

True, there have been some recent slight advances in the speculative wheat and flour markets but they have not been sufficient to warrant an increase of 20 per cent in the price of bread which was already two cents a loaf, or 25 per cent, higher in Connellsville than in Uniontown, Altoona, Philadelphia and elsewhere in the state.

The consuming public has the desire to see a high wage scale maintained and to see industry and business conducted at a fair profit, but when in the unprecedented conditions
now prevailing it is necessary that a downward revision of both wages and profits be made, in order that such a degree of activity may be restored as will give everybody an opportunity to become a wage earner, there is justifiable impatience with any and every effort to increase instead of to reduce living or other costs.

RADIO BROADCASTING BY AMATEURS.

Amateur wireless telephony has made amazing strides since, what seems like but a few months ago, the first message was sent through the air from a naval vessel on the Atlantic coast to the office of the then Secretary of the Navy, Josephus Daniels.
The rapid development and expansion of this means of communication has been the result of the great interest taken in the art by amateurs to whom it has made a strong appeal.
In all parts of the country, in city,
town, village and on the farm, young men and boys have devoted all their spare time to making, installing and using the apparatus until today there are literally thousands of homes equipped to receive messages broadcasted from stations organized to send
as well as to receive.

Not content with having receiving equipment alone, an increasing number of the amateurs have enlarged their installations to include sending apparatus. Although such stations are yet inconsiderable in number, compared with receiving stations, they have multiplied to such an extent and comprise such a wide variety of instrument standards, that some confusion in communication is being experienced.

That having been the situation the government authorities have imposed many restrictions upon the holders of LIVING COST DOWN 43.1 POINTS FROM PEAK OF JULY, 1920.

The National Industrial Conference Board figures that the cost of living as of January 1, was 51.4
per cent higher than in July, 1914.
From the peak of July, 1920, the cost has decreased 43.1 points, between December 1, 1921, and January 1, 1922, the cost declined 1.3 points.

radio licenses that broadcasting has been limited to all but certain classes
of commercial stations, thereby depriving amateurs of the broadcasting privilege. It is not the intention to make these restrictions permanent.
They are to remain in force until rules can be formulated which will regulate broadcasting in such a manner as will best serve the interests of this rapidly growing form of communication.

Just what provisions will be made for the protection or convenience of amateurs has not yet been determined.
One plan under consideration is to limit broadcasting, at a wave length or 200 meters, to certain hours of the day. This privilege would be restricted to such broadcasting as is of public benefit, meaning that the air cannot be appropriated for the indiscriminate transmission of messages by amateurs.

Another plan is to reduce the wave length for amateur broadcasting to 175 meters, or extend it to 225, in order that the 200 meter wave length
may be left undisturbed for the regular wireless communication service.
In any event amateurs can reasonably be assured that they will not be entirely deprived of the broadcasting privilege, but they must be ready to concede the necessity for regulation
as a form of protection to themselves
as well as to others and the still more important commercial radio service.

Gains in Field of Public Hygiene

U. S. Departmental Social Hygiene Board.

The Pennsylvania Health Institute
where the state public health officials and members of the medical profession are meeting to discuss common problems relating to the cure and the prevention of mankind's ills in this section in Pittsburgh, is a remarkable sign of advancement in civilization.
We are gradually learning that it is
many times less costly to prevent disease than it is to cure it. Not only is this true in actual tangible cash costs,
due to wage losses, lessened output
and poorer work, but it is further accentuated in feeling mankind from much needless and useless suffering.
We have known this fact for years.
"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." We have applied it for years in private business. Now we are beginning to apply it to public business. When we start that, we prove our capacity to apply to all what has been successful to a few.
That application lifts all of mankind.
That is real advancement.

The gains made in the field of public hygiene show most strikingly over a period of a few years. Tuberculosis,
for example, by popular propaganda
which educated the public to its prevalence, established free clinics where sound medical advice could be given and eliminated quack doctors who preyed on the fears of people and did nothing to help them, has been diminished as a "killer" more than 60 per cent in the last 40 years. A very large part of this work has been done
in the last 15 years.

Yellow fever, stamped out by applying the knowledge of its causes to the elimination of those causes, has turned a former plague spot into a garden paradise at the Panama Canal.
Dysentery has lost much of its old-time terror through information regarding inoculation. We are learning.

The health institute is particularly concerned with what are known as social diseases. The most widely spread of any of the ills besetting the human family, this evil has been allowed to continue and to grow because of the cloak of secrecy which has been thrown around sex knowledge—
a cloak made up of a web of ignorance, fear, prejudice and shame. The cloak cannot prevent the spread of knowledge, even if, outside like we throw
its folds over our eyes and say "Hush."
The only thing that counts with us is what is underneath the veil. Indeed, this system merely forces this information to spread through most undesirable channels, which results in wrong
facts and erroneous conclusions being inculcated as the truth in the younger minds particularly to bring sorrow
and regret later on in life.

Government recognition of the dangers of these diseases to our army and navy has resulted in scientific preventative methods being adopted which has lowered the number of cases very materially. The work is now being carried on for the men in uniform by the United States Interdepartmental Social Hygiene Board composed of the secretaries of the Treasury, War and Navy Departments
and the medical heads of the Army, Navy and Public Health Service. The latter service is ready to send correct facts to anyone interested.

The health institute brings the results of the work done all over the nation to our state medical authorities.
Results, methods of accomplishment,
have passed—these are discussed and more good may come to all, from an advance made in one locality.

Estimates made by the United States Social Hygiene Board place the wage loss due to these diseases at $54,000,000 a year. The cost to the Army alone was placed at $22,000, 000 during the war period. Social diseases as a group form one of the most prevalent maladies in civilian life.
The American Social Hygiene Society
states that the cost to the state of Illinois is about $188,000,000 a year,
including wage losses, doctors' fees,

"If They Treat Me as Thoroughly as at Genoa—Go-o-o-o-d Night!"

By MORRIS

operations due to after effects, cost to the state for asylums for the blind and lame—and still the tale of misery promulgated by ignorance and fear of facing the facts is not complete.

These chronic ever present maladies, by their familiarity which has bred some little contempt for them,
alarm few people except the conscientious health officials and doctors who realize the dangerous after effects. Yet the sum of their unremitting damage, day in and day out, fur-exceeds the toll due to any sporadic epidemic which strikes terror to our hearts, and loudly calls for prompt action by the health authorities.

The time is here to meet this situation bravely and frankly. We are learning, and we have much to learn.
Twenty years ago, even the health institute would have been frowned down. That these matters may now be discussed more openly is a sign of advancement, no less than the flying machine or wireless. Nothing but good can result from this better education.

Nickel in Windpipe.
Stella Katin, four years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Katin of Hawthorne, was taken to a Pittsburgh
hospital this morning by her parents in an effort to have a nickel removed from her windpipe. An attempt was made to remove the coin at the Union Hospital. The child yesterday afternoon got hold of a nickel and put it in her mouth. It slipped down into her windpipe.

Just Folks

Edgar A. Quast.

DRSS.

Sometimes I wear my dining clothes,
sometimes I don the evening gown.
Again I'll wear my very best to meet
a shabby guest upon his foot.
Then when the Spring returns once more and for my care the garden
calls,
I do my oldest pair of shoes and robe
myself in overalls!
But whether I be richly dressed or shabby guest upon my foot,
the man I am is suited just—that which I am I remain the same.

Last night my friend wore evening
dress, this morning should we chance to meet
And were he garbed in dirty rags with shabby shoes upon his foot,
I still should hail him as my friend,
should stop and talk with him
until
And I'll to hear his cheery voice and glory in his merry smile!
For this is true, that clothes are worn
according to convention's plan,
But friends are friends, however garbed, and all that matters is the man.

I've seen some men in evening dress
who did not know their raiment
fine,
And I have heard philosophy from men
who stood and herded swine.
So little thought I give to clothes, I care not how a man be dressed,
The only thing that counts with me is what is underneath his vest.
If he be honest, kind and true, then he may dress the way he will—
in broadcloth or in overalls, a kindly man is kindly still.

MADE IN U.S.A. BOTTLES FREE

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and gives relief in half an hour.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get a much more curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup,
which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified
molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle
and heals the sore, irritated membranes
so gently and easily that it is really astounding.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup,
hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations
to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

WAS SO NERVOUS COULDN'T SLEEP

Eighty Years Old, Says This Remedy
Made Him Well.

He went on crutches for two years
from neuritis, and was so nervous, nervous and run down that he could not sleep and yet after taking Nerv-Worth
he regained his health and strength
and had no return of his rheumatic trouble or nervousness. That was the story told one of our representatives
by Captain Mitchell, one of the prominent citizens of Cory, Pa.

If you suffer from stomach trouble,
bowel trouble or rheumatism, neuritis,
nervousness, sleeplessness brought on
by indigestion or chronic stomach and bowel trouble you should immediately
try the famous Nerv-Worth that has brought health and comfort to so many suffering people after other remedies had failed and they had about given up hope.

It is sold by most druggists at one dollar and each druggist is authorized to give the money back if the results from the first bottle are not encouraging. It is always on sale at the Connellsville Drug Co. In this city.

It is a splendid remedy for constipation, indigestion or nervousness for delicate women or growing children
and its pleasant taste attracts them to it.—Advertisement.

Casey Club and St. Vincent Both Winners in City League; Next Games Tomorrow Evening

Trotter Makes Knights Hustle During First Three Quarters.

LEGION FIVE IMPROVES

By James M. Driscoll,
Sporting Editor.

Two fine games were played in the City League at the Parochial Hall last night. The spectators all agreed the Casey club was the best yet exhibited and not much better basketball could be asked for in an organization of the kind. Opening only its second week, the Casey club has stirred the interest of old time fans and their ardent supporters. Familiar faces are seen in the crowds and every game is worth seeing.

The Casey-Trotter clash was a nip and tuck affair for a time. Then in the final quarter the Knights began to widen the margin which had varied throughout the evening, and finally won, 37-37.

Trotter made the Caseys extend themselves to the limit and the victorious outfit played real basketball. Trotter was never entirely out of the running but this was due in a large part to the foul shooting of "Uts" Stutkey, who is becoming an artist on the free line. At the end of the first quarter the score was 10-9, Casey; and when the whistle blew at the half the result was 17-14, in the second period the Casey Club showed some superior passing and was applauded for its exhibition. The team was away off form on foul shooting, however, and the score would have been much larger.

In the second game the American Legion showed it will be a contender from now on. The St. Vincent team, its opponent, won, however, the score being 49-33. At the same time some changes in the line-up of the ex-soldiers showed strength. Had Brown and Honsberger, been given sufficient support the result might have been different, but St. Vincent's evaded the guards too easily.

The line-up: Casey—24, Campbell, F., Miller, Pritchard, F., Blochada, J. White, C., A. Smiley, Butlermore, G., W. Smiley, Toomey, G., Burkey. Substitutions—Henry for Pritchard, Riley for Campbell, Campbell for J. White, Pritchard for Henry, Piles for Blochada.

Field goals—Campbell 6, W. Smiley 4, Pritchard 2, J. White 2, Butlermore 2, Riley 2, Henry, Miller, A. Smiley.

Foul goals—Campbell, 1 out of 3; Pritchard, 2 out of 3; Henry, 4 out of 7; A. Smiley, 16 out of 21.

Referee—Lewis.

The Legion-St. Vincent game: Legion—33, Brown, F., Alexander, Honsberger, F., Henry, Fay, C., A. Rusinko, Skomp, G., D. Bradley, Bartley, G., Gettle. Substitutions—Yaw for Fay, J. Rusinko for D. Bradley, Mahalic for Gettle.

Field goals—Henry 7, Honsberger 7, A. Rusinko 6, Brown 4, Alexander 2, Skomp, Gettle.

Foul goals—Brown, 1 out of 8; Honsberger, 8 out of 14; Henry, 16 out of 23.

Referee—Lewis.

TWO MORE GAMES OF INTEREST COME OFF AT ARMORY TOMORROW

The next City League clash will be between the Snyder Five and the Baltimore & Ohio Clerks and the Unity Fraternity and Capstan Glass teams. The games will be played at the Armory on Wednesday evening. The Snyder-B. & O. Clerks clash is one that cannot be postponed. The Clerks are known to be fast but the Snyder team is powerful. The Snyder have lost Fred Snell for a time, that man being out of the game with a broken rib. On the other hand the railroaders at present are minus Hannigan, captain, unless he chooses to play with what physicians believe is a broken bone in his wrist.

The Unity Fraternity and Capstan clash may bring forth some good playing. Capstan will be out for a victory at all costs and the Fraternity, awakened by its defeat at the hands of the Casey Club a week ago will step out to take a place in the first column of the league if possible.

PERRY TOWNSHIP VICTOR OVER FREDERICKSTOWN HI

The Perry Township High School basketball team defeated the Fredericktown Hi in a game at the latter place on Saturday evening. The score was 34-24. The Edwards brothers, at forward and center, were stars for the Perry combination, scoring 12 field goals between them. Neale scored five from the floor for Fredericktown.

The line-up:

Perry—34, Fredericktown—24
H. Edwards, F., Collart, Coldren, F., Neale
T. Edwards, C., Sidenhamel, Bankie, G., Gary
Hamilton, G., Kerzhik

Field goals—H. Edwards 8, Neale 5, T. Edwards 4, Coldren 2, Sidenhamel 1.

Foul goals—H. Edwards, 4 out of 7; Neale, 3 out of 15.

FANS AT BOXING BOUTS

Madison Square Garden yielded to the federal and state governments from Aug. 8, 1920, to December 22 last the sum of $335,817 in property and amusement taxes, according to a compilation made by the lessee of the building. New York state profited to the extent of $101,007 for taxes on boxing and wrestling bouts alone.

The attendance at the boxing and wrestling shows during the fifteen months mentioned was 2,247,127.

PRESIDENT HEYDLER SEES CURVE REVIVAL

Figures Old Style of Pitching
Will Return in 1922.

As Result of World Series Pitchers
Are Inspired and Colts Will Arrive With Skill to Win—No Change in Rules.

John Heydler, president of the National league, predicts a general improvement in pitching in the major and minor circuits next year, because the recent world series proved that curve pitching, when properly manipulated, will check the heaviest batsmen.

"You'll see more curve pitching in the major league in future than for many years," said President Heydler. "The way the Giants' batsmen defeated the Yankees by using orthodox curves, almost perfectly controlled, has inspired young pitchers all over the country and soon these colts will arrive in fast company thoroughly equipped with the kind of skill that wins."

"There was plenty of bad pitching in both majors last season which was one of the big reasons for the abnormal hitting. The ball, too, was lively although the manufacturers had no instructions to make it so. Then, again, the batsmen swung their sticks with greater confidence after the anti-freak delivery rules went into effect. But in the end, the world series proved conclusively that big hitters could be disposed of easily by smart pitchers, employing the time-honored curve ball."

"Several youngsters who broke into the National league last season showed remarkable effectiveness with curves. One of them who impressed me was Morrison of the Pirates who was all curves. There were several others almost as clever who are bound to be successful. Among the semi-professionals and minor league pitchers are many ambitious colts who are expected to make rapid progress by adopting curve-ball methods."

"No, the pitching rules will not be changed. They have worked satisfactorily and amendments to provide for the use of resin are unnecessary. It is up to the pitchers themselves to improve their natural deliveries. In due time I believe that batting averages will drop to a normal plane, which means that the making of more than 600 home runs in a single campaign will be impossible in the big leagues."

President John Heydler.

HUGGINS GETS BIG INCREASE

Salary of Manager of Yankees Will Be Considerably Larger During Season of 1922.

Miller Huggins will manage the Yankees in 1922 at a salary considerably larger than was his portion this year, when he led his crew to pennant heights. Instead of listening to the anti-Huggins clam, which wanted the diminutive leader "fired," the Yankee owners re-engaged him and boosted his wages something like $2,000 annually.

Studebaker

Leads in Value!

Buy your car on the basis of intrinsic value.

That begins back in the mills in the selection of the raw materials. It continues right on up the line, demanding the highest grade of workmanship in every operation.

But mark this: There can be no real intrinsic value where manufacturing incompetence exists, because you foot the bill. Where you buy under that condition you pay for inadequate production facilities.

Studebaker heads the industry in ability and resources to build intrinsic value into motor cars—economically—and to sell at the lowest prices possible, consistent with the cost of manufacture.

Take, for instance, the Studebaker LIGHT-SIX. Costs less to buy than the average Four, yet in tire and fuel economy, flexibility and quality throughout, and in dependable performance in owners' use, it surpasses anything at anywhere near its price.

Careful buying by the public and careful manufacture by Studebaker plus the definite policy of always giving the greatest value for the price, have made the Studebaker LIGHT-SIX the best motor car in the thousand-dollar class.

Studebaker builds on the principle that there is no substitute for quality. That was settled seventy years ago when the business was founded.

Studebaker prices are always the lowest at which it is possible to obtain inherent value and today's price makes the value of the Studebaker LIGHT-SIX stand out more strikingly than ever.

Giving the public the greatest intrinsic value for the price has made Studebaker the world's largest builder of six-cylinder cars.

DOG ANSWERS TELEPHONE

Comes Home When Master Wants to Go Hunting.

Charles Cole, a farmer living near Mountain Home, Ark., calls his dog home over the telephone when he wants to go hunting. If the dog happens to be around town.

For the last month the canine has acquired the habit of hanging around the telephone exchange. The other day Cole called up and asked if his dog was there, and asked the operator to send him home if he was. He tried to drive the dog away but he would not leave. Finally she waved him to the board and held the receiver to his ear while his master whistled and called to him.

Barking loudly the dog leaped from his chair and bounded away. In about fifteen minutes Cole called up and told the operator the dog had reached home. Now when Cole wants his dog all he has to do is call the operator, she gets the dog to the phone, his master calls and away he goes.

SWALLOWS FALSE TEETH

Man Is Carrying Set About With Him Somewhere Inside.

Robert S. Pugh of Bloomington, Pa., is carrying his false teeth in a very unusual place. In fact, he is carrying them in his inside.

Pugh's wife was away from home and when she came back Pugh missed his teeth or she noticed they were missing. They instituted a search and even tore apart beds, but the teeth were nowhere to be found. Pugh got to thinking, and finally came to the conclusion he must have been "swallowing" them when he went to bed and swallowed them in his sleep. Then he felt a pain in his intestines. A physician was consulted and an X-ray photograph was made.

The photograph revealed the set of teeth in the lower intestines. While they are causing Mr. Pugh some annoyance he is not confined to his home, but is able to be around as usual. Now while a local dentist is hurrying to get him a new set.

GERMANS BUY FLEET

Notes: Car Firm Purchases Remaining Rheinland Navy.

A German firm has purchased the entire German fleet in British waters, in addition to millions of dollars worth of British vessels, for use in manufacturing motor cars, according to London reports.

The British ships were once considered the new cruiser fleet. Two old dreadnaughts have also been sold. The English government will deliver the ships to the Germans when the business of the disarmament conference has been completed, according to an official.

The deal with Great Britain is considered the salvation of Germany's motor car and farm machinery industry, which, it is declared, is short of first-class steel. The German government will sell the steel from the ships to the manufacturers as soon as they are junked in German naval yards.

GOES TO PRISON WITHOUT GUARD

Postmaster Is Convicted of Misappropriating Public Funds.

REVEALS HIS OWN SHORTAGE

Unusual Story of Confession and Integrity Behind an Irresistible Impulse to Misuse Public Funds—Manifests Honesty From the Start and Is Accorded Benefits of Honor System by the Court—Shortage Was $1,621.

For the first time in the history of Alabama, and perhaps in the South, a federal official, convicted of having misappropriated government funds, traveled alone, with no guard, to give himself up to the penitentiary and serve his term.

It's an unusual story of confession and integrity behind an irresistible impulse to misuse the public funds for urgent private needs, with the full purpose of returning all that was taken.

Travels Alone to Prison.

Howard T. Padlock is the hero of the incident. He was United States postmaster at Logan, in Cullman county, near Birmingham. He traveled alone 165 miles on the train to the Atlanta penitentiary to serve 18 months, carrying his own commitment papers, by order of Judge W. J. Grubb of the United States District court.

Padlock, who volunteered his shortage of postal funds, manifested honesty from the start and was accorded the benefits of the honor system by the court. In October postal authorities received a letter from him asking that they send some one to look over his accounts and stating that he had been forced to use some government funds for private affairs.

Believing that the case was of minor importance and could be easily explained and adjusted, a postal inspector was sent to Logan, where Padlock solemnly told him the exact shortage was $1,621 and declared it had been necessary for him to borrow this amount to meet vital personal obligations. A close examination of his books confirmed the accuracy of his statement. At the time he promised to raise the money to meet the discrepancy, regardless of what course of prosecution the government might pursue.

Pleads Guilty.
He was indicted October 27 at Huntsville and appeared before Judge Grubb at the Huntsville term of the court, pleading guilty to the charges. His request to withhold sentence until December 27 in order that he might try to obtain money to repay the government was granted, and this week promptly at the hour named by Judge Grubb he appeared at the Federal building in Birmingham, but declared he had been unable to raise the money after making every possible effort.

Judge Grubb imposed a sentence of 18 months in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, had his commitment papers, transportation and other details prepared and presented them to Padlock, ordering him to proceed to Atlanta unguarded to begin his sentence.

JAIL LIKE A JUG

But Building Has No Cork and Is Without a Handle.

America's most unique jail has been found at Mansfield, Mo. The village "jug" is really a jug, the most curiously designed structure of modern times.

The little building, which is used sometimes, is constructed of concrete 10 inches thick. It is the replica of the half of the old-time whiskey bottle, the exterior being rounded, with a tapering of several feet at the entrance.

This "jug" has iron bars. Officers admit, however that without a cork and a handle it is not literally a jug.

THE SOISSON.

Pleasant anticipation greets the announcement that "Yamma's Affair," presented by Joseph M. Schenck and released by Associated First National, will be seen at the Soisson today and Wednesday. The always engaging Constance Talmadge carries off the stellar honors. It is the screen version of Rachel Barton Butler's Harvard University prize play, which enjoyed a Broadway success last season. The director, Victor Fleming, has succeeded, it is said, in making it even more pleasing than when presented as a stage play.

The sparkling lines which gave the play such vogue are preserved in the titles while the screen version perhaps because the camera gives even wider scope to the scenes of movement, is even more replete with laughs than the play. It is a stinging chosen starring vehicle for the dainty comedienne.

Miss Talmadge is said not only to repeat her former triumphs, but to ascend to new heights in her interpretation of the role of Yvonne.

The cast is carefully chosen and deserves mention. Kenneth Harlan, who is Miss Talmadge's leading man, plays the part of Doctor Latham; Elsie Shannon essays the role of Mrs. Orrin, the mother of Yvonne; Katherine Kaelred interprets the character of Miss Marchant, the sympathetic friend of Mrs. Orrin; George Le Guere appears as Henry Marchant, her son and affianced husband of Yvonne; while Gertrude Le Brand is "Buddy," Mrs. Orrin's confidential maid.

THE PARAMOUNT.

In the filming of the scenes for Clara Kimball Young's latest photodrama, "What No Man Knows," at the Paramount today, a number of special milk supply depots were erected in the city of Los Angeles which not only served the purpose of realism in making these scenes but afterwards served even a better purpose in actually supplying fresh milk to many poor families. At a cost of more than sufficient to build a handsome bungalow and pay for the lot in the bargain, a huge courtroom scene was built. It is said to be the largest, finest and most beautiful designed stage setting of its kind ever specially built for motion picture work. While Miss Young and her company of players were shooting the scenes for this production, the temperature in the studio registered 110 to 115 Fahrenheit. A corps of waiters served iced tea and cold drinks to the players to keep them from keeling over with the intense heat. Many photoplays have taken place in the city of Los Angeles, but in no picture in which no elaborate gown is worn and that she portrays mostly characters of society women. These fans will have an opportunity to change their minds when they see Miss Young in "What No Man Knows." Wednesday, "Love's Penalty."

THE ORPHEUM.

If you enjoy clean humor, throbs of heart interest and good acting, then you will find them all in "Clay Dollars," which was shown yesterday to an appreciative audience at the Orpheum Theatre, where it is the feature today, also. Bruce Edwards, played by Eugene O'Brien, after a few years spent in New York trying to make his fortune, is informed that he has inherited a valuable piece of farm land from an old uncle, and with a light heart he hurries to the little village of Pomona, only to find that he has been willed nothing but several acres of boggy land. Upon meeting the pretty June Gordon, one of the belles of the town, Bruce decides that perhaps Pomona might be an acceptable place to live and when he learns by chance that there were evidences of something crooked in his uncle's will, he decides to stick it out and unravel the mystery. How Bruce unmasks the "villain" and turns the tables on him gives a very luscious twist to the story as well as providing one of the most amusing of situations. The many small-town types and bits of atmosphere which predominate in the picture gives it an added charm and cause many laughable moments.

Almost 1,500 Autos Stolen in Pennsylvania in Month of December

HARRISBURG, Feb. 21—December was the worst month for automobile thefts in 1931, according to the records of the automobile division of the State Highway Department, 1,485 of the 10,437 thefts reported occurring in that month. April was next with 1,137, while August was third with 1,213 and May with 1,244 was next.

This is the first time this data has ever been prepared and the records show 2,004 of the stolen cars were recovered. Many of them were tracked and recovered by state policemen.

Nature Loves Bright Colors.

We see the truth of this statement in the varicolored flowers, the vivid mosses, the birds of brilliant plumage. But we never are so compelled more attractively than in the person of a splendidly healthy woman. How does nature paint this health? Why, in the rosy cheeks, the transparent skin, the smooth red lips, of such a woman. And she molds it in firm flesh and rounded contours. The alluring woman is deficient in natural coloring, and she does not even appear to advantage in cloths that would set off her more attractive sister. Many women who long for glowing health will find that they too, can have these charms if they will give a trial to that remedy which brings strength to frail women—Foley's Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Advertisement.

We people of Connelville have had Pioneers living in our midst within the past fifty years.

Not the kind who wear coonskin caps and carry rifles, but Pioneers nevertheless.

When the young Alexander Graham Bell forty-six years ago first sent a voice over a wire by means of an electric current he was a Pioneer, going forth into the little known wilderness of electrical science.

Since that day every development of the telephone has been a pioneering feat. There have been no guides posts to point out the way; no route maps to show which were the smooth roads and which the rough ones.

And Bell Telephone "pioneers" who are today planning for millions of subscribers five, ten and twenty years hence are "preparing the way for others to follow."

Every community served by the Bell System profits by this arrangement. A discovery in California; Texas or Maine is at once available right here in our own state. If the pioneers in our company find something to improve telephone service it is at the disposal of every office in the system where it might properly be used.

Only by such an organization has the Bell System of today been made possible, and only by its continuance is future progress assured.

Storm Country Polly

by Grace Miller White
Illustrated by R.H. Livingstone
Copyright by Little, Brown and Company

"Polly," he murmured, drawing her to him. "Little Polly," and then he raised her face to his—"Kiss me, sweet."

Limp and trembling, she leaned against him as she had that day in his own home. She was so tired and lonely.

"I want you always, Polly," he whispered in her ear. "Some day I want you for my wife. I'll take you away from Ithaca—all of you, your father and the baby—and Granny Hope too. You hear, don't you, Polly?"

At that Polly clung to him. She had lost sight of the fact that she ought to have married Oscar Bennett to free Daddy Hopkins, and to keep her people in the Silent City. She only realized that she was in Robert's arms, and that he was telling her over and over and over that he adored her.

"Hush! you best go now," she asked. "Some one might catch you."

"Hush! You Best Go Now!" She Asked.

here. No! Please, please don't kiss me more."

Without the slightest regard for her protestations, Robert, smiling, gathered her completely into his arms.

"Perhaps," he stammered, "perhaps, sweetheart, your father'll come back in spite of Marcus MacKenzie. Good-by, dear."

She followed him to the door and watched him go up the lane. Then she crept back into the shanty.

"Daddy," she cried, "I'm tryin' my best to save you, dear, an' I will, I will, darlin'. Your daddy save you, Daddy—but oh God, it seems as how I couldn't do it."

CHAPTER XI.

Over a week had passed since Hopkins had stood before his peers to be judged of a crime the law would not overlook. His lawyer, a good one and well paid by Robert Percival, had fought strenuously for a new trial; but after much deliberation on the part of the judge, the motion had been denied; and this was the last day of Jeremiah's stay in the county jail.

It was soon after luncheon time that a high-powered motorcar was carrying Evelyn Robertson and Marcus MacKenzie to the Bennett farmhouse. The purchasing of the farm had been settled, as far as Marcus was concerned, although Eve's pleading and Oscar's stubbornness had made him offer more for the place than it was really worth.

When the farmer walked up to the automobile, as it stopped before his door, Oscar paid no attention to Evelyn, sitting beside MacKenzie, save to give her an awkward bow.

"You've spoken to this squatter girl about what you want, Bennett?" asked Marcus, going to the point at once.

"Yes, sure I have," growled Oscar. "I told you that t'other day; but Polly seems to be always holding off for something. If she does the mark, then I'll tell my farm and take her West. I won't have that brat of a Jerry, though, but I suppose Polly'll make a row when I tell her that."

"Yes, won't be worried with the boy, Bennett. I'm going to have the Chil-ren's society take him. Hopkins will serve a long term, and if you marry Polly, the rest of the pests will scatter after a while. I'll be glad to be rid of the whole Hopkins tribe. But that girl is like a burr; she sticks tighter, the more you pull it."

"That's the bargain, Mr. MacKenzie. I sell the farm at the price we talked if I get Polly Hopkins. If I don't get her, then I won't sell. I can make a good living here for me and my mother, and I don't intend to leave this country without Pollyop."

The thought of his staying around Ithaca filled Evelyn with dread. She knew something of the tenacity with which he clung to any notion that might take possession of him. How could she have ever submitted to his caresses! And the words, "Until death do us part," rang in her ears, filling her with nauseating disgust.

"I wish he were dead this minute," she thought passionately.

She was waiting for Oscar to continue, but he evidently did not intend to; so, settling back as if anxious to start, she said coldly:

"I'll go to her then, as soon as I can."

"When—today, ma'am?" asked Oscar eagerly.

If she had to approach Polly Hopkins about this disagreeable matter, the sooner the better, Evelyn thought. "Yes," she consented languidly. "I might go now, I suppose."

"But you won't find her home till night, Eve," Marcus informed her. "She's gone to see her father before he goes to Auburn. I tried to put the quietus on that, but Rob cut up so I told the sheriff to let her in."

"Then I'll telephone you later, Mr. Bennett," said Evelyn, lifting her chin haughtily as if he were really beneath her consideration. "Good afternoon!"

The hours passed slowly by! It seemed an eternity to Oscar while he waited the call from Evelyn. When he heard her voice over the telephone, he answered gruffly.

"Now, don't be nasty, Oscar," ordered Evelyn imperiously. "I'm doing the best I can. I'm in a booth talking, and if you'll meet me at seven, we'll go together to Polly Hopkins. Does that suit you all right?"

"You don't suit me very well," Oscar grumbled into the receiver. "I'd like to give you the licking of your life, my lady."

Evelyn's laugh came ringing across the wire.

"Don't put yourself out, my dear man," she taunted. "Now, don't start bullying me over the phone, Oscar, for I won't stand it. Hold your temper if you can possibly do so. For once do as I tell you! Will you?"

"Oh, I suppose so," Bennett rapped out. "Where'll I meet you?"

"Well, let me see. At seven on the boulevard, near the lane."

"All right!" and Oscar slammed up the receiver without waiting to hear any more, and proceeded about his farm tasks. Thoughts of anger toward Eve, now so overbearing and contemptuous, were soon crowded out, however, by anticipation of the time when Polly would belong to him—he his to love or abuse at his own sweet will, for Oscar had little doubt that the squatter girl would eventually yield to his will.

Pollyop, meanwhile, quite unconscious of Oscar's vicious intentions, was already utterly overwhelmed with misery.

After the meager supper was over that night, she sat crouched near the wood-box, her arm around Billy Hopkins' straggly neck. Granny Hope was in bed and Woe Jerry, having cried himself to sleep, was in Jeremiah's room, rolled up in a blanket.

For the first time in her life Polly had seen her father weep. How hopelessly she had kissed away his tears! How she had hung to his neck! When they had been forced to leave him, Jerry had shrieked his misery all the way through the streets of Ithaca. To make the matter worse, it began to rain, to thunder and lighten. And now, a forlorn, lonely little creature, she sat listening to the tempest outside with no company but the billy goat.

How listless and hopeless she felt! Only when the thunder rolled over the lake, and the lightning flashed across the sky, did she lift her head. When she was happy, Polly loved the storms, but now, with Daddy in Auburn, how could she bear the thrashing rain and the moon of the willow trees as they swung to and fro over the shanty roof?

She found herself wishing fearfully for the storm to sweep off to the north and down behind the hills. Over and over in her mind went the thought that perhaps she could have helped Daddy if she had done what Evelyn wanted her to. Why hadn't she consented to marry Oscar two weeks ago? She knew why, and, blushing, blamed herself. She could not keep the image of Robert Percival from smiling at her.

All of a sudden a frightful flash of lightning made dim the flicker from the small candle, and was followed instantly by a thunderous roar that shook the very earth. Mingled with it came a woman's scream. Polly struggled to her feet. Some one was in trouble! Some squatter-woman was calling her. She dashed toward the door just as it flung wide open, and Evelyn Robertson rushed in.

"Polly Hopkins," she cried, grasping

In the White Light of It Polly Saw a Man Lying Face Down in the Path Leading to the Shanty.

quered Polly wearily. Shaking off her superstitious terror, Evelyn touched the prostrate man. Perhaps he was dead; and out of somewhere a thought shot into her mind that if he were, her troubles were over. "I don't know," she whispered. "But he looks so!"

Pollyop shoved Evelyn aside and slipped her arm under Bennett's head. She seemed to have lost all aversion to him. She realized then only that a human being was suffering, perhaps dead. At her tender touch the man's eyes flew open; and, panic-stricken, Pollyop withdrew her arm and was back beside the other girl before she spoke.

"He's got life in him, Miss Eve," she chattered between her teeth. "Look at his eyes! God, ain't it awful!"

Quietly Oscar lay gazing at the girls as they stared at him. Polly was the first to go to him.

"Feel awful sick, eh, Oscar?" she asked in a low tone.

The man did not answer even by a movement of his lips.

"He can't talk," she went on, looking around at Evelyn. "He ought to have a doctor. Can't you go up to the boulevard and get Doc Bacon?"

A fresh burst of tears so choked Evelyn Robertson that for a space she could not answer.

"No, I can't go out in this awful storm again," she finally replied. "Of course, I can't," she repeated, swallowing. "I'm afraid, I won't go! I won't take a step. If any one goes—"

"Then away by him," interjected Polly, dully, "an' I'll go!"

Ashamed to declare that she was afraid to be left alone with Oscar, Evelyn watched Pollyop as she went out and softly closed the door behind her.

Polly Hopkins lingered several moments to accustom her eyes to the night's blackness. Beyond to the east Lake Cayuga rushed on toward Ithaca as if its intentions were to swallow the little town in one huge mouthful. Pollyop crouched over mechanically words which fell hourly from Granny Hope's lips.

"Ask an' it shall be given thee," she whispered. "Then if that's so, let me get some one to help Oscar!"

Through the clatter of the elements she heard the sound of footsteps off in the dark road. An answer to her prayer was about to step out of the night gloom. She hoped it was Larry Bishop or Lyle Brainerd. Opening her lips, she gave the word, crying, squatter-woman of the Storm country; and a voice that clung to her heart answered her.

"Then, by the next flash of jagged lightning, she saw Robert Percival coming toward her.

"Is that you, Polly?" he called. "What's the matter?"

"Yep," she faltered timidly. "I got some one sick in the shanty."

Of all the people she had expected to see, he was the last. As she waited for him to approach, Pollyop's active mind grasped the fact that now Robert would know what his cousin had done. She saw no way to keep him in ignorance of Evelyn's relation to Oscar, and she was too excited to think of an excuse to keep him outside.

"Pollyop," commenced Robert, "I had to see you if only for a few minutes. Wait a second before you go in."

Confused and averted, the girl did not stir a step until he was bending over her. One arm went around her shoulders, one tender hand pressed her head against his breast.

"Daddy's gone!" she choked almost hoarsely. "They're took him to Auburn, huh?"

"Yes, dear child," answered Robert, his own throat full with emotion. "But what I came to tell you is this, dear. I've already set things moving to bring him back. I couldn't sleep a wink until I saw you."

BORDER AIRMEN GET HARD RAPS

Meet Many Stirring Adventures
in Line of Duty.

BANDITS NOT ALL HEARTLESS

Americans of Flying Ship That Lighted in River Are Helped by Outlaws, to Make Fire and Erect Camp—Bandits Flee Across Rio Grande. When Texas Rangers Appear, but Return With Food and Drink When Rangers Leave.

Many stirring adventures fall to the lot of the daring aviators of the United States army who are on duty in the wild and rugged region that borders the upper course of the Rio Grande. For the most part the stories of these experiences never reach the outside world. The flying men are a modest sort of men and they take their hard raps as a part of every day's work. It is only in their own camps and in talking among themselves that they sometimes relate features of their patrol trips that stamp them as real heroes.

It is a well-known fact among army aviators everywhere that the strip of border between Sanderson and Presidio is the most dangerous patrol in the United States. In the first place, the country that borders the Rio Grande is full of treacherous air currents, equal in turbulence to the currents in the Grand Canyon of the Colorado river. It is explained that the Rio Grande for many miles flows through a precipitous rock wall canyon that ranges in depth from 1,000 to 2,000 feet. Bordering the river both in Texas and Mexico are lateral canyons, and ranges of mountains, and a forced landing even on the rim of the canyon may mean perishing from thirst before help could reach them. It is a wild, remote and desolate region, 50 to 100 miles from nearest railroad points.

Formerly Rendezvous of Outlaws.
Each day aerial patrol of the several hundred-mile strip of border of the Big Bend region is made. It was in this pocket of the Texas border that numerous outlaws from both sides of the Rio Grande formerly made their rendezvous, and they are still found there in more or less numbers, despite the vigilance of United States troops and Texas rangers. Not all bandits are heartless and bloodthirsty, according to Lieut. William Henry, army aviator, who says he had ample proof of this fact on one of his recent patrolling expeditions. He left Sanderson in a De Havilland, with a sergeant in the rear cockpit, to make the daily "suicide" patrol, as the trip along this part of the border is called.

While flying above the gorge of the Rio Grande at a point where the walls of the canyon rise to a height of 1,800 feet the motor suddenly went dead. Nothing but masses of rocks and dangerous canyons greeted the eye of the pilot as he sought a landing place. Another airplane flying close by for protection was unable to assist the unfortunate pilot. Seeing nothing but instant death on the rocks, the pilot took the only remaining course and side-slipped for the river. Down through the narrow gorge he went, the tips of his wings almost scraping the sides. He straightened the ship out as much as possible near the water and trusted to luck.

Aviators in Great Danger.
It hit with a mighty splash and turned over, the two aviators being strapped in, hanging upside down. The gasoline tank was hauled from its place and struck the pilot on the shoulder, fracturing his collarbone.

The sergeant was the first to get free from the lifebelt and came to the surface. Seeing nothing of the officer he dived under, seeking to help him get loose from the lifebelt. In the meantime, Lieutenant Henry had come to the surface, and seeing nothing of the sergeant, went back to his rescue. The sergeant, failing to find the pilot in his place and seeing nothing of him on top, went under again just as the lieutenant came to the surface. The officer grabbed him, and finding that they were only playing hide and seek with each other they started for the bank.

While making the injured pilot as comfortable as possible they saw a group of men approaching from a canyon leading down from the Mexican side of the river. They came to where the two stranded men were and offered aid. The sergeant being able to speak Spanish, explained their situation, and a fire was made and camp pitched for the night.

Flee From Rangers.
As they were talking, suddenly the Mexicans hastily dashed across the river and disappeared among the rocks on the other side. The cause of their flight was explained when from a ravine on the American side came some Texas Rangers to the camp.

After finding what the circumstances were they explained that the men who had recently deserted the camp were bandits badly wanted by the American authorities for participating in the famous Glenn Springs raid.

Early the next morning the Rangers left, knowing that a rescue party would come from the flying field for the pilot of the other airplane had gone back and told the location. A few minutes after the Rangers disappeared around a bend in the canyon, but came the bandits and crossed the river carrying food and drink. They kept a sharp lookout up the canyon for the Rangers. The bandits remained with the aviators until the rescue party arrived from Sanderson when they retreated to their hiding place across the river.

DIAMOND DICK NOVELS GO UP IN SMOKE IN GERMANY

Diamond Dick' stories keep the classical literature in the background in the realm of Berlin school teachers and therefore they have decided to get rid of the wild and woolly tales so dear to the heart of the youngsters of Berlin.

The teachers gathered wagon loads of this type of novels and had a public burning in the presence of their scholars.

A lecture on the harm of bad literature and the profit of good books preceded the fire. Now they expect the youngsters to spend their evenings reading Goethe and Schiller. This scene shows schoolboys dumping Diamond Dick literature on the pile to be sacrificed to the upbuilding of the reading of the classics.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Here's Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautifully Tended Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your crown. It makes or mars the face. When it fades turns gray or bronzed, just an application of two or three Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture, you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wright's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses Wright's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw it through the hair, taking one small strand at a time by moving the gray hair has disappeared, and at another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.—Advertisement

Alverton

ALVERTON, Feb. 21.—A business meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. F. B. Hickernell.

Mr. and Mrs. William King spent Sunday with relatives at Old Bethany. The melting of the snow Saturday did not discourage the crowd of young people who had planned a skating party to the local services at Grandview. Twenty-three boarded a truck of C. L. Stohm and made the trip. They are all planning to attend two lectures several nights this week.

Six more people united with the Church of God Sunday morning. Evangelist G. W. Vant who is conducting a revival at Grandview Church, near Alverton, gave the first invitation Sunday night and four came forward.

The Sunday school teachers and of the school of the Church of God held a meeting Sunday afternoon and made plans to hold a motion picture next Sunday morning at which time 10 children will receive diplomas. Miss Anna Edwards, the pastor, will address the graduates.
